

I am Lia Sirelson, a native of the country of Georgia, on the Black Sea. My career has been as a building engineer and professional in art and stage design. I have spent 25 years in the dramatic theater as an actress, stage designer, director and playwright. During this time I have traveled and toured in many countries. Living 9 years in the United States I have owned and managed a restaurant and gift shop, spent 3 years as a gemstone setter and 5 years designing my own jewelry.

I develop my designs by shapes, color and most importantly by the characters of people. I am designing to fit the many different characters with which I am familiar from my years in the theater.

My aim is to match my designs to customers and to feel their satisfaction. Very often customers write to me about the many compliments they receive for my designs, which makes me very happy. I do respect my customers and I am very thankful to them for appreciating my jewelry.
